Monthly Report Matterhorn

August 2026

Monthly Commentary

Equity markets were mixed in August 2026: after last month's weakness, technology stocks stabilised, while defensive sectors gave up some ground at times. The US Federal Reserve signalled the first rate-cut steps for the autumn, which pushed bond yields slightly lower, while the ECB left its key rate unchanged and continued to monitor inflation developments in the eurozone.

Matterhorn recorded a monthly gain of 2.14% in August.

Investment strategy

The “Matterhorn” portfolio pursues a holistically sustainable investment approach with global diversification across equity and bond markets. The equity portion focuses on global markets, particularly the US, Europe, emerging markets and Japan. ESG corporate bonds and green bonds provide additional stability. The strategic weighting is 70% equity ETFs and 30% bond ETFs. The portfolio is aimed at long-term investors seeking responsible capital investment.

Asset management

The investment strategy is implemented by our partner Finax in cooperation with UnitPlus on the basis of defined guidelines. The portfolio is managed passively; adjustments are made only in the event of deviations from the strategic allocation.

Benchmark

There is no overarching benchmark, as the portfolio invests partly in equities and partly in bonds. The reference indices of the ETFs held in the portfolio serve as guidance.

Financial instruments

The portfolio consists exclusively of exchange-traded equity and bond ETFs. There are no fixed caps on individual positions.

Portfolio valuation

Within the app, the updated portfolio valuation is shown at least once a day. A monthly update is carried out on the last business day of the month using data from the respective ETF providers' websites.

Objectives & risk

The aim is to achieve sustainable and stable performance through global diversification and an ESG focus. The addition of bonds helps reduce risk. The portfolio is assigned to risk class 4 of 7 (medium). Leveraged products or complex derivatives are not used. Market risks and currency fluctuations are cushioned through broad diversification.
